My brother went out to find food and water,

while my sister took care of me.

One day, some really nice people found us and took us to another place to live.

there he is!

You will soon be with your new family, Foxy.

I have an elder brother and sister,

and the three of us always stick together.

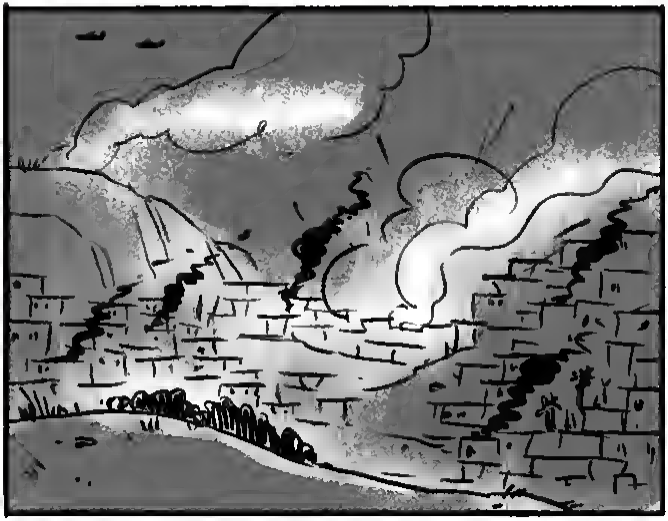
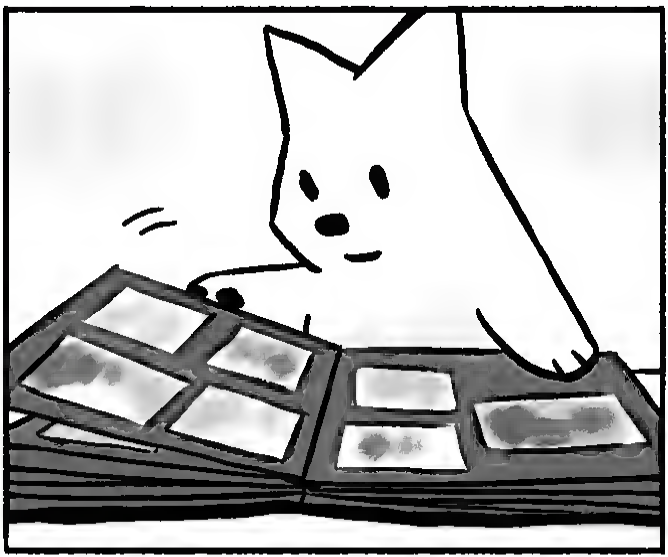
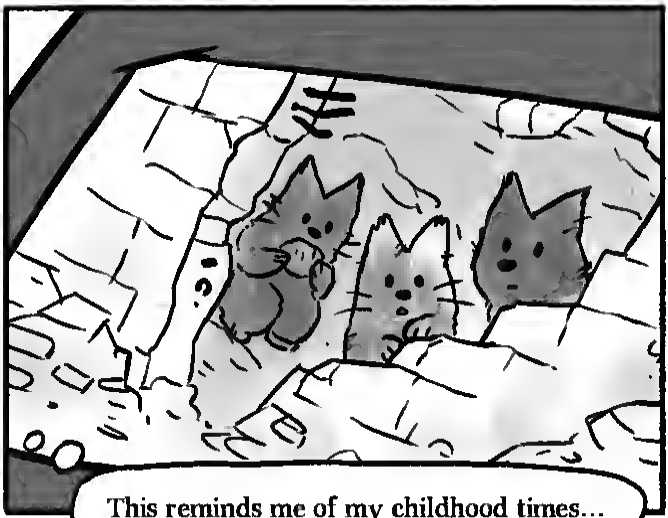
Whee!

Some time later, the situation in our country got really bad and we had nowhere to go, so Mr. Elephunk decided to take me to live with his family.



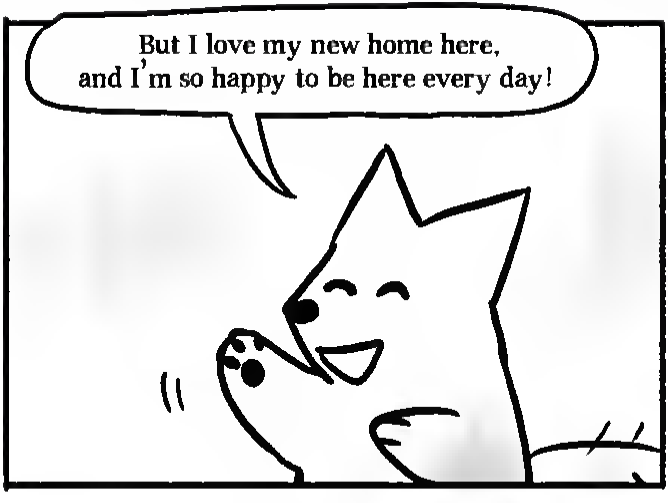




This reminds me of my childhood times...

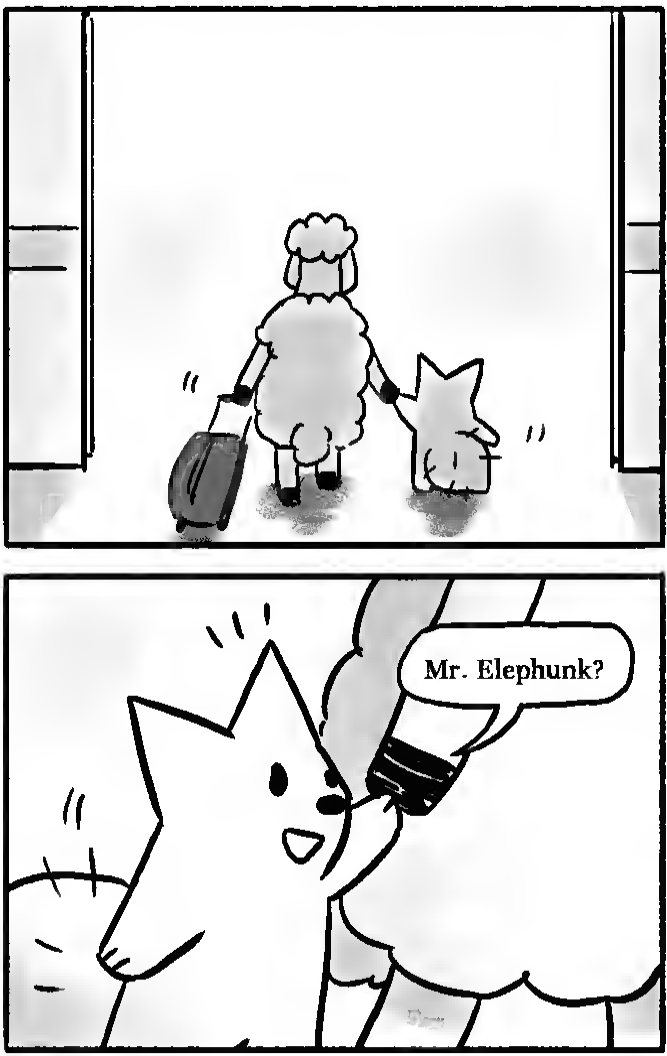
Mr. Elephunk's family became my new home,

and I grew up in their love and kindness.



I have gone a long way home.

Do you miss your home country, Foxy?
Yes, I often think about my home.



Mr. Elephunk?

I am really thankful to meet Mr. Elephunk in my life.

If it wasn't him, I will not be where I am now, living happily and having many friends.

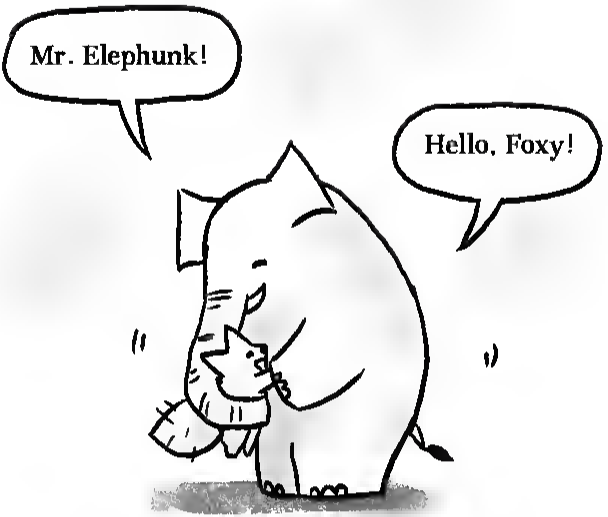
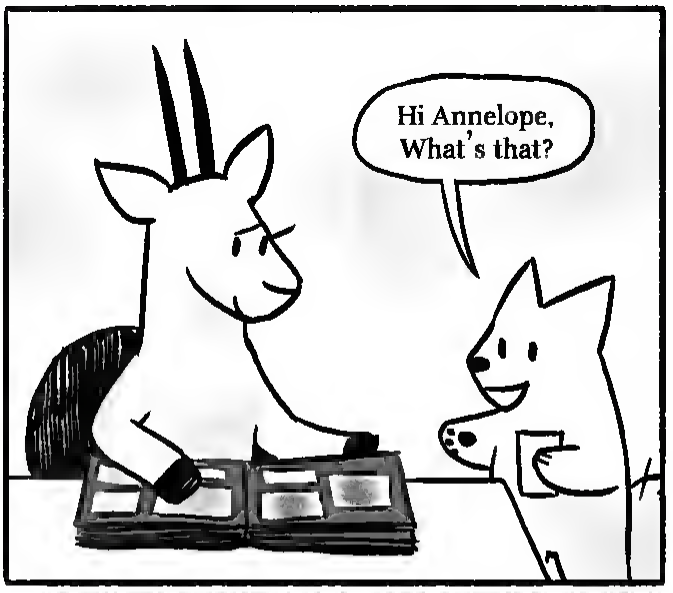
I was born in a country that was not very nice to live in.

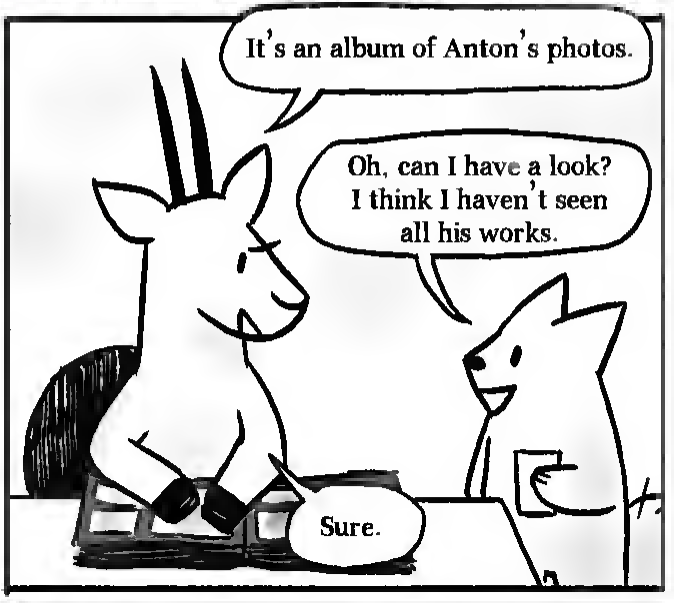


Mr. Elephunk have a big warm family who welcomed me as one of their family members.

He told me that he want to help the poor children in our country, so he donated money each month to support our living and education.



Hi Annelope,
What's that?



It's an album of Anton's photos.
Oh, can I have a look?
I think I haven't seen
all his works.
Sure.

I wrote back to thank him.

Thankyou
Mr. ELE
PHUNK

Mr. Elephunk cared for me like a big brother and taught me many things.

I was very excited to meet Mr. Elephunk for the first time.

My brother and sister were adopted by other families in different countries, and we lost contact after that.

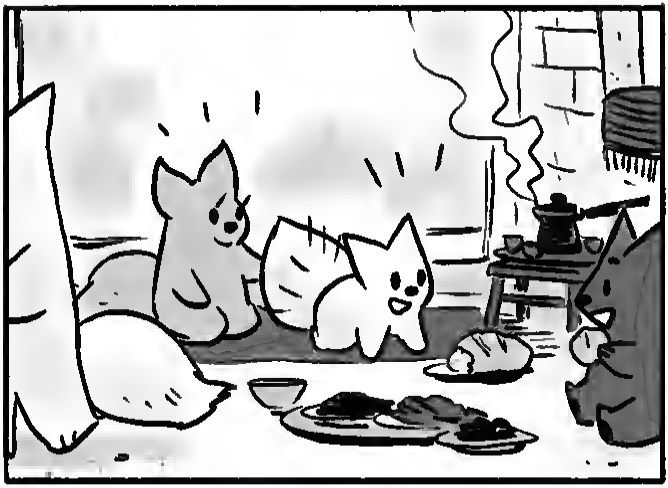
A Long Way Home

We also started school, which every week a teacher came to teach us all sorts of things.



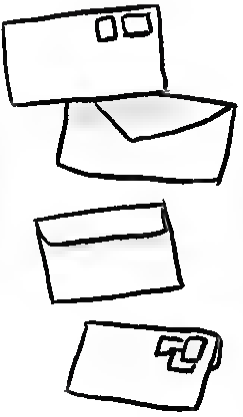
When we were small,

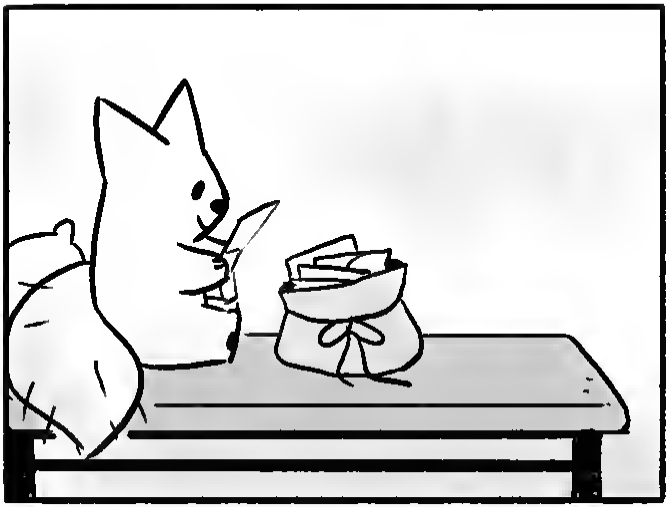
the war took away my parents,

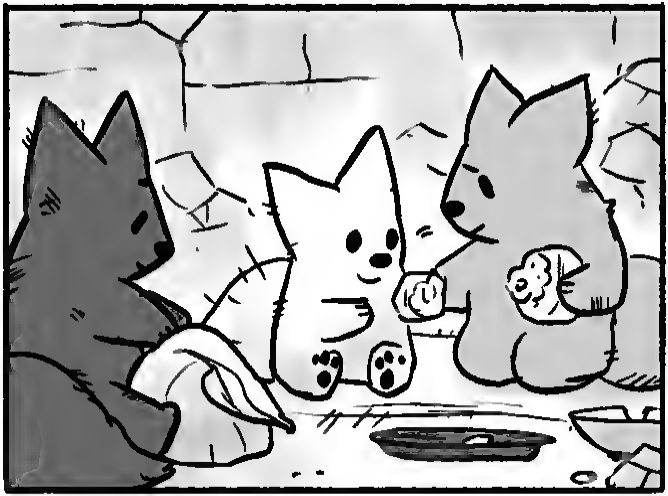
and we were left in the ruins to survive on our own.

Mr. Elephunk felt like a caring big brother to me.

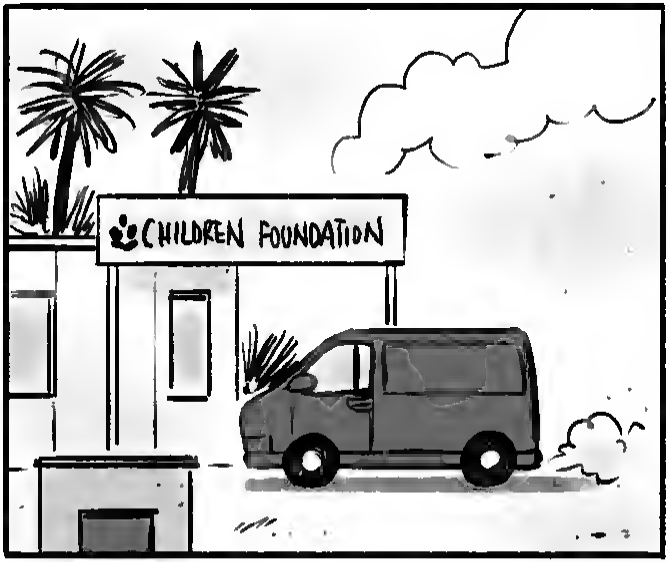
We exchanged many letters and became good friends.







How many stars are there?



At the center, we had food, a bed to sleep, and we were safe. We were very happy.

Although our lives were difficult, we helped each other and played together whenever there's a chance.

Some time later, I began receiving letters from someone who lives in a country far away.
